Book of Common Praise: Hymnal Companion to the Prayer Book; With Accompanying Tunes / (Classic Reprint) Reformed Episcopal Church

For some time past there has been urgent need in the Reformed Episcopal Church for a new edition of the Hymnal Companion to the Prayer Book, otherwise known as The Book of Common Praise. Taking occasion by this need the Eighteenth General Council of our Church which met in Philadelphia in May, 1906, appointed a Special Commission to revise the Church Hymnal. (See Journal of General Council of 1906, page 152.) In the prosecution of its work, the Commission availed itself of a revision already partially executed by Bishop H. S. Hoffman, D. D., and, with this as a basis prepared the present Hymnal, which, under the authority vested in the Commission by the General Council, is now issued as the Revised and Enlarged Hymnal of our Church. The Commission has earnestly aimed to set forth the fulness and positiveness of Evangelical truth, expressed in the choicest language of Christian poetry. The lyrics were selected from the rich treasuries of ancient and modern hymnody, so that side by side will be found the hymns which by long usage and tender associations have endeared themselves to the Church Universal with those that have in recent years inspired and elevated the worship of the Triune God in the great congregation. While it is probable that some will look in vain to find some old or new favorite, it will be discovered that without the incumbrance of too great weight in numbers, there is not a phase of Christian teaching and experience and of Church worship and work, that is not amply covered. The Commission further believes that the Hymnal is in full harmony with the distinctive doctrines, principles and modes of worship prevailing in the Reformed Episcopal Church. We feel warranted in saying that the Book is an admirable digest of hymnal worship, which will commend itself to the general use of our Church, making next to the Prayer Book, a visible and potent
